

- I'm not sure there is a cohesive design system right now
- I think you could combine multiple of these scenes into one cohesive design language
- Use light gray, white, and black interchangeable for background colors with an accent color of red
- I think the line boxes could be overwhelming
- I will provide more feedback once the designer uploads a full mockup of the website :)